

An architectural model of a staircase is shown against a black background. The staircase is a white, multi-level structure with a grid-like pattern on its steps. Numerous colorful rods (red, blue, green, yellow, purple, orange, and white) are placed across the steps, some horizontally and some diagonally, creating a dynamic composition. The background features a faint grid of white lines and small circles, suggesting a technical or digital environment.

Werkvortrag

Philipp Stamborski

Peter Kulka Architektur, Dresden

09.06.2010 19:00 Uhr
Westfälische Hochschule Zwickau
Fakultät Architektur
Bobinetgebäude Studio 2
Klinkhardtstraße 10
Reichenbach (Vogtland)